Having analysed a large amount of in-Play sports betting data on football, we believe that 3% is an average bookmakers' odds overestimation when dealing with the bets, detected by our software.

If you allow a significant difference in the odds, you can lose your profit in as soon as 100 bets.

Therefore, it is sometimes difficult to catch the latest odds.

If it happens, all the bets will be a waste.

For these reasons, even and regular bets are preferable.

Bet no more than 3% of your total bankroll on each play.

With mass use, some unpredicted errors are possible both on our side and on punters.

Expert tipsters use no more than 1-2% of total bankroll for one bet.
