Football Squares is a popular Super Bowl party game in which all of the players try to guess the score for each quarter.

Start by drawing a 10 by 10 grid on a large poster board with enough space in each square to record your player's initials and their projected score for the game.

Once you have the board set up, ask friends and family members if they want to pay to choose a square on the board.

If you want to add an element of surprise to the game, draw numbers from a hat to assign each player a potential score.

At the end of the game, pay the winners the money that you gathered from all of the participants.

California is home to hundreds of federally recognized Native American tribes.

In fact, no other state has as many big-name teams inside its borders as California.

Of course, there is a football team-shaped hole in Oakland that cannot be ignored.
