The best part is that they're easy to use and take a few minutes to assemble! Just be prepared to spend some time figuring out which side you want to put your forks and knives on.

The color is also very pretty and I'm looking forward to wearing it.

It has a soft cushion and it is so soft.

I love the velvet.

Notice how the point spread and the Over/Under are both listed at -110.

Again, this is how they reduce their risk and ensure their safe profit.

The reason why you see -110 most often is because it represents the odds required by a sportsbook to guarantee a 10% commission as long as the betting public as a whole is wagering evenly on both teams.

Basically, you can think of it as the cost of running a business.

The casino may choose to do this to encourage more betting for a certain team or point total.

Taking advantage of a nickel line can give the savvy bettor an edge in both the short and the long run.

It isn't always "free candy for everyone".

And if you do have trouble getting your head around the concept, many online sportsbooks have a simplified payout format that lets you enter the amount you want to bet to see how much it will pay out before you actually place your bet or submit your ticket.
